Van Rie Is Cleared Of All Counts

BOSTON (UPI) — Handsome Dutch radio operator Willem Van Rie was acquitted today by a jury that deliberated all night on charges that he murdered his shipboard paramour.

The foreman of the all-male jury returned the verdict in a tense courtroom after more than 15 hours deliberation which began at 5:43 p.m. Tuesday.

The 31-year-old Van Rie was cleared of all counts in the death of pretty Chicago divorcee Lynn Kauffman, 23, whose body was found washed up on a Boston Harbor island Sept. 19. That was the day after the SS Utrecht left here for New York on the final leg of a 44-day voyage from Singapore.

At a news conference shortly after his acquittal, Van Rie said he believed Miss Kauffman "Committed suicide. I am convinced of it."

"I have been worrying and waiting five months for this moment and now, whisk," the smiling, blue-eyed Van Rie told newsmen, motioning with a wide sweep of his arms.

While he spoke in the packed second floor press room, pandemonium raged in the corridors outside as spectators cheered.

Good Evening!

Ash Wednesday.

And the beginning of Lent. Perhaps well all of us begin exercising a bit more than usual self-denial and self-restraint from now until Easter. By then it could become a habit.

March still making feebly like a very tame lion.

Maybe the real lamb-like days will be here sooner than we think? At that, up until now positively no complaint about the winter season we've been having.

You just never know. That great earthquake taking better than 1000 lives in Morocco and injuring innumerable other thousands, for example.

Truly an earth-shaking disaster.

Pennsylvania's new "tough" highway safety program now in effect and all motorists should take note.

This one is what we've needed for years and it won't affect the safe, sane, courteous driver. But the reckless and incompetent are in for big trouble and here's hoping they get it.

Phillies settle down to serious training at Clearwater and somehow or other we've got a hunch Eddie Sawyer's going to turn up with a miracle.

He did it once before remember, beginning just about this time a decade ago.

There's a new deodorant called Disappear. After you rub it on, you disappear and nobody knows where the smell comes from.

Shoe Salesman to lady customer: "Let's start with the larger sizes and work down until we get that stab of pain we're looking for."

Mother: "Now Junior, be a good boy and say 'Ah' so the doctor can get his finger out of your mouth."

Take it easy with the driving.

14 Dead As Train Hits Fuel Truck

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — Rescue crews delicately pried apart crumpled steel cars of a crack passenger train today in search of additional persons feared killed in a flaming collision with a fuel truck tanker.

Fourteen bodies have been removed from the gnarled steel that once was a gleaming streamliner. Dep. Coroner John Ross said he believed that number would stand as the total death toll but could not be positive until every shred of wreckage had been checked.

The speeding Chicago-bound Santa Fe Chief smashed broadside into the loaded tanker at a crossing at dusk Tuesday. The truck's 8,000 gallons of fuel oil spewed flames through the air and spread a path of fire along the right-of-way.

All but two of the 11 passenger cars were derailed. Some jackknifed after each other under a rain of burning oil.

Flames Shot Skyward

At least 40 of the 83 persons aboard the train were injured seriously enough to be hospitalized. Screaming passengers clawed their way out of the burning wreckage as flames shot 100 feet into the sky.

Fire crews quenched the flames two hours later. Only then, with the wreckage still steaming, could rescue crews from throughout the San Joaquin Valley start their grisly task.

Giant cranes and acetylene torches were used to separate the layers of steel, described by a worker as similar to a crushed piece of aluminum foil.

Gently they lifted small severed bits of steel or whole passenger cars, in search of the charred and mangled bodies. One man was taken out critically injured but alive, eight hours after the death-dealing collision.

Railroad crews began replacing sections of the twisted rails to clear the line for traffic.

'Hills Postmaster Proposes Harness Race Track In Falls

Whether or not to permit the pleasant smell of tack and tan-bark in Falls Township will be a question to be decided at the March 15 meeting of the Falls Planning Commission.

Mrs. Catharine B. Wright, Falls Hills postmaster, of Tyburn Road, Falls Township, appeared before the Board of Supervisors at its regular meeting last night to suggest that the board consider the promotion of harness racing in the township.

Mrs. Wright indicated that the approximately one mile - square track of land at the Tyburn Road over-pass at Route 13 would be ideally situated as a race track site because of the excellent road net serving the area.

45-Acre Parcel

Mrs. Wright and her husband, Irving, own a 45-acre parcel of land on the proposed site.

Mrs. Wright, who told the board that she has maintained an interest in horses and horse racing for many years, read a letter describing her project during the closing minutes of the meeting.

The audience listened to the letter with quiet, respectful interest as the woman drew a vivid and exciting word picture of her plan. It was evident to the listeners that Mrs. Wright had spent a considerable amount of research and effort in preparing her remarks.

The letter ended with a suggestion, "that a committee be appointed by the supervisors to give suitable publicity to such a venture and serve as a liaison between promoters and land owners and charged with the responsibility of preparing maps and brochures."

Slumped Over Wheel

Levittown Man Dies As Auto Rams Pole

A Levittown man died early this morning when his auto crashed into a utility pole in the Mayfair section of Philadelphia.

Police said that the man, John Fischer, 45, of 21 Gingerbush Road, Goldenridge, may have suffered a heart attack. He was found slumped over the wheel of his car.

Fischer was dead on arrival at Frankford Hospital. A resident of Levittown for six years, he was employed by Smith, Kline and French in Philadelphia.

He is survived by his wife, Isabel; three daughters, Mrs. Daniel Menichella, Mrs. Stanley Kulick, and Miss Teresa Fischer; and a son, John, all of Levittown.

Funeral arrangements are under the direction of the Beck-Dougherty Mortuary and will be announced later.

raise in commuter fares at all. "Our salaries won't go up and money will only stretch so far. It might not have been so bad if they had raised the fare a little at a time," they said.

$190 A Year More

Mr. and Mrs. Stiltz, who buy the unrestricted weekly commuter ticket will pay $190 more a year for their train ride. The weekly fare will go up to $1.90 April 1, from $7.55 to $9.45, provided the PUC approves.

Jack Mitala, of 13 Taylor Drive, Fallsington, didn't think that the new rate schedule would affect him because he uses a school ticket, at a reduced rate of $22.50 a month.

Rude Awakening

Jack, a Drexel Institute of Technology student, is in for a rude awakening. According to the railroad, his fare will be increased $5.63 a month, adding $56.30 to his ten-month education cost.

Commuters who buy the restricted monthly 24-trip ticket will find their pockets emptied of $81.60 more a year. The fare will go up to $33.95 from $27.15, a $6.80 monthly boost.

Those using the three month ticket will pay $15.85 more for their suburban living. The fare will go from $18.10 to $33.95.

"It's an outrage," said Daniel McCulken, of 82 Kenwood Drive, South Levittown.

First Phase Begins

Campaign workers in the important Advance Gifts phase of the $360,000 Boy Scout Development Fund of Bucks County Council, last night opened their drive for three-year pledges of $216,000, or 60 per cent of the total campaign goal.

The Advance Gifts campaign was set off at an enthusiastic kickoff dinner at the Warrington Golf and Country Club, attended by 100 volunteer workers and their wives.

Speakers, from a Levittown Eagle Scout to Bucks County Council President W. Atlee Burpee, 3d, reminded the volunteers of the importance of Scouting and its continued growth to fast-developing Bucks County.

$360 Pledges

Teams under Advance Gifts Chairman Robert E. McClanahan in the next few weeks will call on 1,600 corporations, commercial concerns and individuals capable of pledging $360 or more during three years. The workers will report on their success at a series of meetings starting Monday.

In two weeks the Special Gifts campaign phase will be launched, giving all Bucks County residents the chance to support the Boy Scout Development Fund with three-year pledges of $36 to $59.

The $360,000 goal, total of the Advance Gifts and Special Gifts phases, is needed to expand the camping facilities of Bucks County Council for a Boy Scout membership which in ten years has tripled to 7,700 Cubs, Scouts and Explorers, and promises to continue its fast growth, a scout spokesman said.

County-Wide Drive

Campaign General Chairman Herbert Barnes was toastmaster at the kickoff dinner and noted that this is the first time in its history that Bucks County Council has conducted a county-wide fund drive.

"We have already had success in recruiting a top notch team for this historic campaign," Barnes said.

"We must get this campaign off to a running start," declared Advance Gifts Chairman McClanahan, "and the leaders we have here tonight can do just that."

Will Get Certificates

The Advance Gifts chairman explained that those who make pledges of $360 and more will receive certificates marking the 50th anniversary of Scouting and have their names embossed in a Golden Anniversary memorial book.

The needs of rapidly-growing Bucks County Council were explained by Burpee, who said the Scout membership in 1954 had outgrown camping facilities at Camp Ockanickon, near Point Pleasant. The camp must be expanded, he said, and an additional (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

Homes And Businesses Relocating

By JIM STANTON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Excavation crews are busy clearing a giant path in Bensalem for the Delaware Expressway.

They will cut a 5-mile 250-foot wide swath which will extend from Neshaminy Creek just south of Glenn Ashton Farms to the southernmost point in the township at Poquessing Creek.

All in all, some 211 Bensalem pieces of property will be affected by the new expressway.

The new superhighway will, for the most part, lie between Bristol Pike on the north and the Pennsylvania railroad tracks on the south.

More than 150 homes are due to fall before the work crews' bulldozers. Most of the homes have already been condemned.

Six Homes Moved

In the Bridgewater section 16 homes have been demolished with another 16 due to fall soon. Six homes have been moved.

The former Lester Piano store was one of the first to go. All 120 tons of it was picked up by a moving crew and towed a block down Bristol Pike and placed on the corner of Newportville Road. It will be converted into an apartment house.

Several months ago, J.C. Sutton moved his antique auto museum from the path of the expressway from a point on Maple Ave. to a new site near Newportville Road.

Most of his antique vehicles made the move under their own power. Pierce-Arrows, Twombleys, a Sears and Roebuck, and even an ancient auto once driven by Marshal Ferdinand Foch, himself made an imposing sight as they made the two-block trip down Bristol Pike.

Southwest Sweep

The expressway will sweep southwest toward Street Road with which it will intersect.

Numerous properties in this area will feel the excavators' shovels—but not for some time. The first link of the six lane highway will end three quarters of a mile above the area near Bristol Pike and Park Ave.

Construction will begin on the link within several weeks.

It will be close to three miles in length and will extend northwest to Route 413 in Bristol Township.

When work is ready to begin on the second link many businesses will have to relocate. In the Street Road area, Simons Lumber will go. So will Eddington Plumbing, Deruss Machine Products, the Blue Hill Diner, and Realtors Fechtenburg and Luz.

Bury Dead, Help Injured

Mercy Crews Aid Earthquake Victims

AGADIR, Morocco (UPI) — Nations of four continents responded in a vast mission of mercy today for the relief of the thousands of injured and homeless in this quake and flood-demolished city and to bury the estimated more than 3,000 who died in 10 seconds of hell.

Dr. Albert E. Reinhard of Bern, Switzerland, chief delegate of the League of Red Cross Societies at Geneva, estimated the dead and placed the injured at more than 5,000.

A stream of U.S. and French air force planes flew in doctors, nurses, supplies and medicine. Naval transports based in Spain, Italy and Morocco rushed tents and other emergency supplies.

As French army bulldozers scraped out wide pits for mass burials of the dead, help and offers of aid streamed in from the United States, Europe, Africa and Asia.

No Americans were known to be among the dead or missing although some were in the city when the quake struck.

Rear Admiral Frank Akers, commander of U.S. naval activities in the Mediterranean, reported to naval headquarters in London that the injured were of "all nationalities."

Akers said rescue workers' "prompt arrival and the immediate evacuation effort saved many lives, as prompt hospitalization meant the difference between life and death."

"The problem now, he said, was to prevent the spread of disease among refugees who streamed vacant-eyed from the ruins and camped in makeshift shelters on the plains around the dead city.

Falls Slates
New Addition
Dedication

The new addition to the Falls Township Municipal Building on Yardley Ave., Fallsington, will be dedicated Saturday, March 19, at 10 a.m.

Plans for the formal opening of the $20,000 addition were announced by Milton Berkes, chairman of the Falls Township board of supervisors at last night's board meeting.

Berkes said that a speaker of some prominence will take part in the ceremonies. Others expected to attend include the president of the Bucks County Supervisors Association and retired township officials, he said.

Falls Township's 1960 budget will be given further scrutiny by the supervisors before it is posted at the Township Building tomorrow, Berkes said.

Berkes announced that budget hearings will be held March 21 and 22.

"I urge Falls Township residents to examine the proposed budget at the township building and then attend the budget hearing with any questions they may have about it. We'll be happy to provide the answers," Berkes stated.

Berkes reported that plans are now being made by the Regional Cooperation Committee to jointly sponsor a "Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up" month with local civic associations.

The committee, composed of members from Falls, Bristol, and Middletown Townships and Tullytown Borough, has not seen a date for the campaign, but Berkes hinted that it would be a "spring cleaning."

"Additional services will be provided by the township," he added, "such as trucks to remove accumulated debris."

A school for supervisory employees of the four municipalities will be established in the near future, Berkes concluded.

The Regional Cooperation Committee will discuss the clean-up campaign at a meeting tomorrow.

Civil Rights
Foes Lose On Three Votes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Outnumbered southern foes of civil rights legislation lost three lopsided votes today as the Senate plodded into its third day of around-the-clock debate.

However, the southern senators continued to hold the floor throughout the marathon struggle and showed no signs of abandoning their efforts to either defeat the measure or possibly water it down drastically.

At 10 a.m. e.s.t., the stubborn fight had been going on continuously for 46 hours except for a 15-minute recess.

The three roll call votes came before sunrise this morning.

Two southern moves to recess the Senate were overwhelmingly defeated. The Senate then by a 64 to 8 margin killed a southern proposal which would have specifically sanctioned statements advocating use of "all legal means" to oppose integration.

A few hours later, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., (D-N.C.) offered an amendment which would whittle down the proposed federal punishment for anyone obstructing school integration orders. Ervin's amendment would cut the maximum penalty from two years in prison and a $10,000 fine to one year imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

At 8:44 a.m. e.s.t., Sen. Olin B. Johnston (D-S.C.) ended a four-hour speaking stint and Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) took over.

It was Johnston who won agreement to the brief 15-minute recess at 7:13 a.m. e.s.t. He won unanimous consent to it when he proposed it in lieu of another quorum call which would have roused senators from their sleep.

Pro-civil rights advocates were able to muster overwhelming strength for the three pre-dawn votes.

A Country
That Doesn't Need Aid

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI)—President Eisenhower flew into Montevideo and probably the most relaxed atmosphere of his entire South American trip today.

His arrival was marked by friendliness and an absence of tommy-gun-carrying troops as he has seen elsewhere.

The President's plane landed at Montevideo at 1:55 p.m. (10:55 a.m. e.s.t.) after a three hour and 38 minute, 815-mile flight across the Andes from Santiago, Chile, where he did some plain talking and won the warm affection of the people.

Eisenhower was smiling and bouncy of step as he went through the airport arrival ceremonies here on the last leg of his "Operation Amigo" that has taken him to four South American countries in little more than a week.

Benito Nardone, son of an Italian immigrant who became president of Uruguay only yesterday, headed the official greeting party as Eisenhower stepped from his sleek jet plane Columbine III at Carrasco Airport.

Eisenhower flew here from Chile where he pledged with President Jorge Alessandri Rodriguez to work to solve the economic problems of the hemisphere and to seek a limitation on arms purchases in South America.

Thousands of Uruguayans began gathering well before Eisenhower arrived to line the route of his motorcade into the city.

Lent Season
Starts Today

Bucks County Catholics and Protestants begin the traditional 40-day Lenten period of penitence today — Ash Wednesday.

The period of fasting preceding the celebration of Easter on April 17 is the most reverent of religious observances. Its length commemorates the 40 days in which Christ fasted in the desert, the 40-day fast of Moses and the 40 hours spent by the Savior in the Sepulcher.

Bless Ashes

In Catholic and high Episcopal churches priests and rectors today will bless ashes and apply them in the form of a cross to worshippers' foreheads. The ashes are produced by burning the palm fronds used in last year's Palm Sunday services.

ai camp is needed in the Pocono Mountains.

Eagle Scout Terry Starkey, of Levittown Explorer Post 102, told the campaign workers that "First of all, Scouting is fun. I don't think any American boy joins Scouting to have his character improved," the Scout said.

"He joins to have fun. But as he gets deeper into the fun and activities, he finds there is a code to live by. Scouting gives us the opportunity to be leaders."

George G. Gray, finance chairman of Bucks County Council, told the group that "A boy is our most precious heritage. He is a very precious thing that means everything we can ever hope to be."

"This boy, for whom we have accepted this challenge, is really the leader of tomorrow," he said.

"The greatest monument we can build for ourselves is that statue we enshrine in the heart of a boy."

few months.

Walt Baumann, manager of the Blue Hill Diner, doesn't know what move he will make as yet.

"If the state doesn't make an offer which I think is reasonable, I'll move the entire Diner down the pike rather than see it demolished," he said. Baumann has not received his eviction notice yet.

Mrs. Patricia Morris, who lives in the Bridgewater section near Neshaminy Creek, owned four acres until last March when the state condemned two of them.

She then moved her home out of the condemned area to the acreage she had left.

"Fairer Settlement"

"I feel that some of my neighbors received a fairer property settlement than I and my husband did," Mrs. Morris said, "but what I'm complaining about is a tax bill which includes the two acres that were condemned."

"And if that wasn't enough, a five per cent delinquency bill arrived during the time we were trying to have the bill adjusted," she added.

Many home owners in the section which includes the area north of Park Ave., although they did not wish to move, feel that the government has been "fair" in its settlements.

But many residents in the section which includes Cornwells Heights and parts of Andalusia are of a different opinion.

"We were told that the state would be fair when it came time to settle, but it hasn't been that way," John Boyle, a construction worker from Andalusia, said.

Boyle, who lives in a ranch-type home, said that state highway officials did not take into account the improvements he added to his home during the three years he's lived in Andalusia.

"The state said it would reproduce in dollars, every item I've added including shrubbery, but it hasn't," Boyle said.

"The appraisers are not from our area and have no conception of what the property in this area is worth," he added.

Another family which will soon be displaced is that of James Whalen. He lives on Maple Ave. in Edlington.

"We realize that you can't stop progress," Whalen says, "but the price offered me for my home is a mere $400 more than the house was valued at nine years ago."

Philadelphia Appraisers

"How can you call that a fair market value?" he asks.

"We were promised appraisers from Bucks County and instead got appraisers from Philadelphia."

"All we ask is a fair deal like the people in other sections received. They had local appraisers," Whalen concluded.

Most of the residential property in the path of the expressway has been condemned in the F-3

Students Call Rally

The government stationed 3,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen—more than three fourths of the armed forces—along the way.

The leftist Uruguayan Federation of University Students, representing most of the 30,000 students in the National University of the Republic, called an "anti-imperialist" rally for tonight.

It also issued a statement protesting the visit on grounds that Eisenhower was a "representative of Wall Street economic circles and colonialist capitalists but not a representative of the North American people."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon took on students of the university in a free-for-all debate during his South American trip nearly two years ago. But there were no incidents then and none was expected during Eisenhower's visit.

Honor, use the train on a weekly basis. He explained that the railroad has increased the travel rates twice since 1955. The last rate raise, 16 per cent was granted in June, 1958.

Mrs. Katherine Heisel, of 16 Woodside Ave., Edgely, spoke well of the service now offered by the railroad, but she was, "certainly not happy with the fare raise."

Cheaper To Drive

Another Levittown commuter, Gilles Boucher, of 33 Ruby Lane, Red Cedar Hill, remarked, "It may soon be cheaper to drive."

A ticket clerk at the Levittown railroad station remarked that people may just stop commuting.

"They can't afford it now," he added.

A Levittown attorney, Eugene F. Wayne, of 60 Geranium Road, Golden Ridge, complained that the preliminary information announced by the railroads is incomplete.

Wayne indicated that he planned to discuss what he termed a "discriminatory fare increase" with municipal and civic association officials in Lower Bucks County.

No fare increases have been planned for the Philadelphia lines that will be part of the planned Passenger Service Improvement Corporation, he explained.

This organization has been set up by the City of Philadelphia to provide low-cost rail transportation in and near the city.

In Philadelphia it is known as "Operation Northwest" and "Operation Northeast."

"The PUC should act for all of the people, not just for those in Philadelphia. The apparent discrimination should be explained by the PUC. Why charge suburbanites and not Philadelphians?" Wayne concluded.

Hearing Set
For Howard

A Levittown man is scheduled to be arraigned Friday on charges of sodomy and receiving stolen goods.

Frank J. Howard, 38, of 8 Bridge Lane, Levittown, is now free on $2,000 bail. He was arrested last Friday night after an investigation of youths involved in three armed robberies and 15 burglaries.

According to police, the morals charges involve Howard and the charges of the youths involved in the gang.

Detectives Charles Shaw and John Rice broke up the six-month crime spree when they arrested Orville Charney, 23, William Corcoran, 15, and Norman Torkelsen, 18, all of Levittown, on the armed robbery charges.

Joseph W. Knisely, 17, and Stephen Krupa, 18, both of Levittown, were arrested later.

Police said Knisely, Krupa and Torkelsen were not involved in the morals charges with Howard.

The hearing on Friday is scheduled to be held in the offices of Bristol Township Justice of the Peace Joseph Haines.

Mother, Girl
Hurt In Crash

A Morrisville woman and her daughter suffered minor injuries in an accident on Route 13 resulting from the hood of another car flying off and landing on the road.

Mrs. Viola Nield, 38, of 606 Hillcrest Ave., Morrisville and her daughter Sherry, 8, were taken to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, by the Delaware Valley Rescue Squad.

They were treated for bruises and released, Falls Township police reported.

Thomas Connelly, 31, of Pennsauken, N. J., was parked on the roadside after the hood of his station wagon had blown off and landed on the highway.

Mrs. Nield told police that she noticed something on the road and applied her brakes. Her car was hit from behind by an auto of Leo Brennan, 33, of 201 Allendale Drive, Falls Park, police stated.

According to police, Mrs. Nield jammed her foot on the gas pedal and rammed into Connelly's parked car.

Brennan was issued a summons for following too closely behind another vehicle, police reported.

in the state will be permitted to construct harness racing tracks.

The racing question will be decided by a referendum vote in the April 26 primary elections by Bucks, Philadelphia and 11 other Pennsylvania Counties.

Recommendation

Milton Berkes, chairman of the board of supervisors, asked that Peter Smollett, chairman of the Falls Township Planning Commission, discuss the proposal with the commission members and make a recommendation on the project to the board.

Smollett said the March 15 meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Township Building.

"Local residents are more than welcome to attend this meeting and present their opinions on the race track proposal," he added.

was slow because of their battered condition.

The workers toiled through the night beneath garish lights, calling orders in hushed tones. Trained hands of surgeons probed through the mangled steel, feeling for pulses that would mean a life spared.

By dawn, the death scene had gained a semblance of order. The orderly inch by inch search accounted for each listed rider known to be aboard the train when it left San Francisco hours earlier.

There were 72 passengers and 11 crewmen aboard, with crewmen in the engine and passengers in the front cars numbering most of the dead and seriously injured. 275 inch average.

flash-and-noise affairs were the first recorded in ten years.

It was warmer than usual last month. Temperatures averaged 3.5 degrees above normal, nothing too unusual since warmer Februaries have been the trend in recent years, the weatherman said.

Snowfall during the past month was less than half the normal amount, although precipitation of all sorts melted down to 4.65 inches of water—more than the in the prisoner's box as the verdict was read.

Tears welling in his eyes, he said in a trembling voice "I thank you members of the jury..." He tried to say more but was cut off by a court officer.

Judge Murray immediately adjourned the session in the crowded courtroom where nerves were as taut as violin strings. The defendant's dark-haired wife, Nella, burst into tears of joy.

In his charge, the judge had given the jury a choice of six verdicts ranging from acquittal to first degree murder in the death of Chicago heiress Lynn Kauffman, 23.

Van Rie, a free man, nevertheless, was led from the prisoner's box by a deputy sheriff toward the detention cell in the courtroom. As he passed his counsel's bench he seized the hand of Attorney Walter Powers Jr. and pumped it violently, smiling broadly with tears welling up in his pale blue eyes.

Besides maintaining the borough's decorum, Morrisville's Police Department recently struck a blow for expressiveness and color in the English language. In the usually drab list of accidents, thefts and such read to the borough council at its meeting last month, there appeared a listing for "one man, rolled." One of the councilmen noted that you can't be any more explicit than that.

Bill Struwe feels like half a pair of scissors. Township manager for Lower Makefield, Struwe is currently operating without the services of secretary Mrs. Frank Moyes. Mrs. Moyes is in Mercer Hospital recovering from surgery. Struwe said she will be back at work early next month. "She's my right arm," he cried. "Sometimes my left arm, too."

The ways of the State Highway Department are mysterious, indeed, according to Morrisville Borough Manager - Secretary Bob Steward. After hounding the department for months to get some work done on borough streets, he drove past a patching crew working on Pennsylvania Ave. yesterday afternoon.
